Mr. Buchanan is the owner of Kevin Buchanan & Associates, P.L.L.C. The firm focuses on receiverships, including collections, asset management, and tracing, as well as litigation, including personal injury, product liability, wrongful death, business disputes, intellectual property, family law, and class actions. Mr. Buchanan advises clients on compliance issues involving the U.S. Banking Security Act ("BSA"), the Foreign Corruption Practices Act ("FCPA"), and sanctions programs administered by the Office of Foreign Assets Control ("OFAC"). He has been retained in a number of areas as an expert witness including cases involving professional liability, class actions, and family law. Mr. Buchanan serves as a member of Special Litigation Committees ("SLC") in securities derivative litigation cases.

The firm, located in Dallas, Texas, represents and advises clients on a world-wide basis, from California to New Jersey and from Texas to Michigan – and states in between. The firm's international practice has included advising foreign nationals in Canada, Mexico, Brazil and the Russian Federation. Mr. Buchanan has settled multi-million dollar business disputes, personal injury and wrongful death cases. His experience includes trial and settlement of complex cases involving multiple plaintiffs in both federal and state forums. Courts have routinely entrusted with Mr. Buchanan with particularly contentious receivership cases. He has served as a discovery master and as a mediator.

Mr. Buchanan's responsibilities included the litigation, trial, and settlement of personal injury and wrongful death actions. In addition to his plaintiff's personal injury practice, he was responsible for an insurance and institutional defense docket.
